To Whom it May Concern:

I strongly recommend Keegan Barile for any available junior software developer, software engineer, or related position – especially in the areas of Web development. I believe he would do especially well in a full stack or backend development position. He is very capable, and a quick learner.

Please feel free to contact me if you need more information.

Thanks,
